About the College

Gandhi Faiz-e-Aam College has earned its strong academic reputation by getting reward as college with potential for excellence by UGC, New Delhi. It was established in the year of independence (1947) by Khan Bahadur Fazl-Ur-Rahman Khan. Presently, it is distinctive among institutions of higher learning and has turned into third largest college of Mahatma Jyotiba Phule Rohilkhand University, Bareilly.

The Department of Zoology was established in 1947 with a limited number of faculty and facilities. During the last 70 years, the department has made all round progress and has acquired position as leading departments of the college. It offers undergraduate (B.Sc.) and postgraduate (M.Sc.) degrees programme. The intake capacity of the students per year is about 500 at undergraduate and 30 at postgraduate level and syllabus of these courses is based on UGC guidelines. Moreover, the department comprises of five permanent and two self finance faculty members with five non-teaching staff. The department is also engaged in research and is guiding PhD and PDF students. The museum of the department is well stocked with various specimens belonging to all the animal phyla which are used for teaching invertebrates and vertebrates. Some rare specimen including skeleton of snake, fish, monkey and human (original) are also kept in museum to know the anatomy of the body.

About the City

The district Shahjahanpur was established in 1813 and before its creation, it was a part of district Bareilly.
